

TRUST CO. AND CLEARING HOUSE MEN IN SESSION

General Convention Of Bankers Will Be Resumed On Friday...Money Kings Amazed At Uncle Joe Cannon.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 15.—Two important divisions of the American bankers' association—the trust company and clearing house sections—met today. No session of the general association was held.

The work taken up by these sections is considered by bankers quite as important as that of the main business meetings. Officers made their reports and an open discussion of the details of the financial problems to be met in trust companies and clearing houses occupied much of the time.

At the meeting of the trust company section, Daniel S. Rousen of the New York bar spoke on "The Post-Mortem Administration of Wealth." At the clearing house meeting various systems of operations in the various states, were discussed. In his annual address to the clearing house section, President L. C. McDougal declared emphatically in favor of a gold reserve in all banks.

This afternoon many of the visiting bankers and their ladies crossed Lake Michigan to Gary, Indiana, to inspect the mammoth industrial center created there by the Indiana Steel company. Tomorrow night the bankers expect to have President Taft as guest of honor at their convention ball. The business sessions of the general gathering will be resumed and concluded on Friday.

The bankers certainly sat up and took notice when Speaker Cannon delivered his address to the convention yesterday afternoon. His words are ringing in the ears of some of the nation's great money kings yet.

"Uncle Joe" announced his hostility to radical changes in the present currency laws, declared there would be

PEARY PUT MANY COLORED RAGS ON THE "BIG NAIL"

Silken American Emblem, College Fraternity Banner, And Flag Of Peace Flap From The Snow Lances.

Battle Harbor, Labrador, Sept. 15.—(Via wireless to Cape Ray.)—Peary conveyed further today with representatives of the Associated Press regarding his journey to the North Pole. He spoke particularly of flags he raised at the Pole and records he left there.

The explorer said that when he reached the Pole the first flag he hoisted was a silken American emblem presented to him by his wife fifteen years ago. He had carried this flag on all his expedition north, leaving a piece of it at each of the highest points he attained. The last remnants were raised and left at the Pole.

After that he raised flags of the Navy League, Delta Kappa Epsilon college fraternity and a flag of peace. Tent poles and snow lances were used as flagpoles. Peary also enclosed documents concerning his trip in a box and buried it in the ice.

At Springfield, Mass., Sept. 15.—President's train arrived here at 12:35 p. m. and left for Pittsfield five minutes later. A crowd of 5,000 persons greeted him and the president briefly addressed the throng.

Reaches Pittsfield.

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 15.—Taft's train reached here at 2:30 today and stopped six minutes.

The president was presented with a five-foot floral wreath by the Merchants' association in honor of his fifty-second birthday. The president made a few remarks from the platform.

The Players (to the first Fan of the United States)—No matter who wins or loses—you are going to see some ball!

A special game of baseball will be played September 16 in Chicago between the Glants and the Cubs for President Taft.—News Item.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Farmers of Hanoverville, Near Edgerton, Much Pleased With Scheme of Operating Creamery.

Hanoverville, Sept. 14.—The Emerald creamery, better known as the Hanoverville creamery, which was formerly operated by William H. Lester, is now being run by a co-operative company composed of farmers of the neighborhood. All of the latest improved machinery has been installed, which includes a Wizard agitator, or cream ripener, a new Victor churn and starter can, a boiler, engine and other necessary equipment. A large amount of stock has recently been sold and this would seem to indicate that the sentiment among the people is that the co-operative plan is the only system for operating a creamery in a profitable manner. The institution opened under the new management with a large patronage and the prospects for the future are very promising. The creamery building and the structures adjoining it will be improved in the near future.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON UNDER THE KNIFE

Minnesota's Chief Executive Operated Upon Today for Adhesions in Abdomen and Hernia.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 15.—Governor Johnson was operated upon this morning for adhesions in the abdomen and a slight hernia. Hoping of a successful result are entertained.

SEEK AID OF COUNTY IN BUILDING BRIDGE

Supervisors of Turtle Township Ask for Special County Board Meeting for Appropriation.

Notices were sent out yesterday to the various members of the county board of supervisors by the county clerk asking them to meet on September 21. The notices were sent out in response to a request from the members of the board from the town of Turtle who seek county aid to the town in building a bridge across Turtle Creek in the village of Iloilo. The structure which had been standing there for a month ago, yesterday a massed mob of the voters of the town of Turtle took action with regard to building a bridge to replace the one destroyed, and it was decided to construct one at a cost of from $1,700 to $5,000. The cost exceeded one-eighth of one per cent of the value of taxable property in the town, and in such a case the county pays half the cost, but towns, cities and villages which furnish their own bridge and road work are not required to contribute to this fund. The bridge which was washed out was of iron and had been in use for over forty years. At the meeting yesterday the voters decided not to issue bonds to pay for the town's share of the cost, but to take the money out of the tax receipts.

Does One-legged "Dope" Victim, who takes a precarious living by peddling small articles, was picked up by the police last night and allowed to occupy a cot in the lock-up. Smith does not look as though he had any sympathy for him in which he reflects high moral value in which he reflects his will. He had a little money and was allowed to go this morning on his promise that he would leave town on the first train.

NEW YORK GIRL PRINCE'S BRIDE

MISS ANITA STEWART WEDS PRINCE MIGUEL IN SCOTLAND

MILLIONS FOR A TITLE

Bride Is Step-Daughter Of "Silent" Smith—Millionaire—Prince, Son Of Pretender To Portuguese Throne.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Dingwall, Rosshire, Scotland, Sept. 15.—An alliance of American millions and European royalty, the first on record, was consummated today in the little Catholic church of Dingwall. The bride was Miss Anita Stewart of New York, who several years ago came into possession of an immense fortune through the death of her stepfather, James Henry Smith, the bridge-group was Prince Miguel of Braganza, eldest son of the Duke of Braganza, Pretender to the throne of Portugal.

The wedding ceremony was a most brilliant affair. The bride wore a magnificent gown, the temporary residence of the bride's mother, to the church was spanned by triumphal arches made of flowers and garlands, and by esplanades representing the arms of the house of Braganza. Enthusiastic masses of people lined the roadway and cheered the wedding party and guests most heartily.

Gentlemen of the Braganza household, in full dress, and wearing many orders and other decorations, had charge of the church. There they received the ladies and gentlemen, the former in gorgeous toilets, and many of the latter in splendid uniforms.

Among the first to arrive, were a delegation sent by the Austrian emperor, consisting of high noblemen. Their attendance was in recognition of the fact that the bridegroom holds a high station at the Austrian court, while his family is intimately connected with the Austrian royal family.

Among the representatives of the bride's family were Sir George and Lady Cooper, brother-in-law and sister of the late James Henry Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, the latter the bride's aunt. Other American guests included members of the Astor, Gould and Stewart families.

The interior of the church was made beautiful with artistic floral decorations, softened by the judicious use of priceless draperies brought from Paris for the occasion, contrasting nicely with the colors of the ladies' toilets and with the uniforms of the military guests. The family pews, richly draped with velvet and gold, were reserved for the members of the Braganza family and for relatives of the bride.

Bishop Chisholm of Aberdeen officiated at the marriage in full canonicals, assisted by Father Frazer of the local parish. The bride was given away by her brother, W. Rhineland Stewart, Jr., and her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Margaret Drexel. The bridegroom was attended by his two brothers.

The bride and bridegroom left the church to the strains of a wedding march, and were driven away in an open carriage, amid tremendous outbursts of cheering, to Tulloch Castle, not far distant, where the wedding breakfast was served to 500 distinguished guests.

The bride of Dom Miguel of Braganza is the only daughter of Mrs. James Henry Smith by her first husband, William Rhineland Stewart. Mrs. Stewart, who is now Mrs. Rhineland Stewart, was one of the beautiful Misses Armstrong of Baltimore. Mr. and Mrs. Rhineland Stewart were divorced in August, 1904, and a month later Mrs. Stewart married the late James Henry Smith, the bachelor millionaire, known as "Silent" Smith. Mr. Smith died while on his honeymoon.

Mr. Smith, whose fortune was estimated at $30,000,000 at the time of his death, inherited most of it from his uncle, George Smith, a pioneer of the West, who was heavily interested in Chicago real estate. Mr. Smith came to this fortune in 1899, when he was an inconspicuous broker in Wall street. He was well known to his business associates but had played no role in society.

Miss Stewart made her debut in New York society in the winter of 1908. Last year she remained with her mother abroad, and first met Dom Miguel of Braganza in Paris last April.

Dom Miguel is an officer in the Austrian army, though a Portuguese and a descendant of the royal line of the kingdom through his grandfather, Miguel, Prince of Portugal, brother of the Dom who renounced the succession and became first Emperor of Brazil. Miguel, the grandfather, was actually King of Portugal from 1825 to 1826.

Dom Miguel, the bridegroom, is today, was born at Richmond, Lower Austria, Sept. 22, 1878. His mother was Princess Elizabeth of Thurn and Taxis. Dom Miguel is a familiar figure in London society, and is also well known in Paris, and he has many American friends. One of his aunts is the wife of Charles Louis, Archduke of Austria, and another married Prince Alphonso, the brother of old Don Carlos. Other alliances of his family are with the royal houses of Bavaria and the ducal houses of Parma, Luxembourg and Austria.

LIGHTNING FATALLY INJURES MOTORMAN

John Frey of the M. R. and K. Electric Line Lies in Dangerous Condition.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Racine, Wis., Sept. 14.—John Frey, motorman of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co., lies at his home, 411 High street in this city and is not expected to live as a result of being struck by lightning at Oak Creek, Milwaukee county, last night.

Frey was running his car and stopped to telephone for orders. Just after leaving the box, the flash came and knocked him down against a fence unconscious.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

ARE second marriages business transactions or are there just as many love marriages the second time as the first—someone writes to ask me?

It is an interesting question but a tremendously big one because it rests on one of the greatest problems in the world—the nature of man and woman love.

If you believe that each man in the world is made for just one woman—I suppose I ought to say it the other way, but I'm not going to—if you believe that love is a matter of affinity and all souls are paired off by Fate, then you must also believe that no one can possibly love twice and that if the first marriage is a love one, the second cannot possibly be.

For my own part, I do not believe anything of the sort. It seems to me perfectly absurd to say that there is only one person with whom each of us can be happy.

On the other hand, I should be very loath to go to the other extreme as some people do and say that it is all propinquity and that a man could probably come to love any nice woman into whose society he happened to be thrown and vice versa.

I have thought about the matter a good deal and the conclusion to which I have come is this—that it is partly propinquity and partly congeniality.

I believe that if you are a woman there is a certain type of man in whom you will naturally be interested, and if you are a man there is a certain type of woman who will naturally attract you. I believe that with any individual of this type you can probably fall in love.

I know a man who was practically engaged to a certain girl. She was the only girl in the world for him, he said, and all the other beautiful things they do say at such times.

Then she died, and he of course was heartbroken—for a time. After that time, of course, he fell in love, married, and was entirely happy.

The women were both his type. If the first girl had not died, I believe he would have been equally happy with her.

So, I also believe it is perfectly possible for a man or a woman to marry twice and be in love both times.

Sometimes, of course, a man or woman may make a mistake and the second marriage may not be as perfect a one as the first. But it may also be the other way around. I know at least one woman who certainly cared more for her second husband than for her first.

Inasmuch as second marriages occur later in life I will admit that the love that inspires them may be less the care-free, passionate emotion of youth, but it may be none the less strong and beautiful.

Then again, material considerations, such as a wish for a home and a desire to have some one to look after motherless children, may perhaps enter in. But material considerations have been occasionally known to enter into first marriages.

The evidence now being in, the judge will sum up the case and leave it, as she always must, for the jury to do its own deciding.

I think, while second marriages may sometimes be business transactions, there is no inherent reason why they should be.

I think that while there may not be quite so many love marriages the second time as the first, there are a great many of them and that yours, "cautious widower" as you sign yourself, may be one if you aren't too unwisely "cautious."

GAVE RECEPTION FOR DEPARTING MINISTER

Congregation of Methodist Church entertained last evening for Rev. and Mrs. Tippet.

Church people throughout the city were entertained last evening at a farewell reception given by the congregation of the Central M. E. church for Rev. and Mrs. Tippet, who leave the last of this week or the first part of next week to make their home in Appleton, where Rev. Tippet will have charge of the Appleton district of the East Methodist conference of Wisconsin.

T. E. Benson had charge of the program and acted as chairman at the reception. The first speaker was Dr. E. S. McChesney of Milwaukee, for six years a presiding elder of the Janesville district, who came here at the same time as Mr. Tippet. With the latter he was instrumental in bringing about the union of the two Methodist churches, and his talk last evening was concerned with this "merger" and the greater power obtained by unity.

Dr. J. W. Laughlin of the Presbyterian church spoke of the pastor as a person of authority, one having authority to teach and expound. He expressed regret that Rev. Mr. Tippet was to leave Janesville.

The Congregational church was represented by Senator John M. Whithead, who told of the friendly relations and good feeling that had always prevailed between the two churches and his own congregation's regret over Mr. Tippet's departure.

Rev. R. M. Vaughan, former pastor of the Baptist church, who had charge of that pastorate during the greater part of the period that Mr. Tippet has labored here, spoke in the same vein as Senator Whithead.

In behalf of the Methodist church, Rev. John Reynolds, superintendent of the Janesville district, expressed the deep sorrow of the congregation that their pastor and his family were to leave the city.

He was reminded of the time when he was appointed presiding elder of this district and of a little conversation, about the time, which he had with "Gov." Hoard on the street in Ft. Atkinson. The ex-governor wanted to know why Mr. Reynolds seemed so downhearted and the latter explained that he was not over-happy over his prospective transfer to the presiding eldership of the Janesville district. "Well," said Hoard in comforting tones, "it may not be so bad after all. When Lot, who was presiding elder of Sedam, had to leave because he was the only good man left in town, you remember that there was one compensation—his wife was turned into a pillar of salt."

In closing his address the district superintendent presented Rev. and Mrs. Tippet with a beautiful set of solid silver knives, forks and spoons. Several excellent musical numbers were given during the evening's entertainment by the Janesville Symphony Orchestra under the direction of F. E. Lewis, with Mrs. Lewis as pianist. Light refreshments were served at the close of the program.

DR. DAVID STAR JORDAN, PRESIDENT OF STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

San Francisco—The recent attack by the Pasadena Fruit Growers association on Luther Burbank of Santa Rosa, Cal., the "wizard of horticulture," has brought on a heated controversy. Burbank has been accused of "nature faking" exaggeration and taking credit to himself for new species which he did not originate but rather adapted.

Burbank himself says his works and results speak for themselves and refuses to be mixed up in an argument. Dr. David Star Jordan, president of Stanford university, defends Burbank in no unambiguous terms. He declares the attack upon the plant wizard to be "unfounded, misdirected, ill-considered and made by those who knew not whereof they speak."

Burbank is a member of the faculty of Stanford university and he and Dr. Jordan have worked together in many of the plant genius experiments.

ENTERTAINMENT AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

Several Out-Of-Town Visitors Participated in Club-Night Festivities Last Evening.

Despite the inclement weather there was a fair attendance at the weekly club-night supper and dance at the Country Club last evening. Old folk's quadrilles and polkas were introduced by way of variation from the usual program, and a brilliant march by the entire company and a sailor's hornpipe executed by Al Schuller and H. G. Carter were unique features. Among the out-of-town visitors were Mrs. George Mason and Miss Helen Nash of Chicago, Miss Mary Cornell of Elmhurst, Ill., and Miss Leonora Meinhart of Burlington, Wis.

Do Not Confuse Linoleum Lustre With Varnish

Linoleum Lustre, the wonderful preparation which preserves new linoleum or old cloth and restores old, is not like the common floor varnish—has none of its drawbacks. It will not crack or blister, heat and cold do not affect it. A child can apply it and it will dry over night. It makes floor covering twice as easy to clean, because it sweeps easily and is glossy without being sticky. If your linoleum or old cloth is discolored in color and the pattern is worn nearly away you can make it like new at small cost by applying Linoleum Lustre, or if you now preserve color and pattern and add to the wearing power of the floor covering so it will last indefinitely. One quart will cover 100 square feet. At all dealers. Made by KENOSHA CHEMICAL CO. Kenosha, Wis.

CLIFFORD G. ROE, ASSISTANT STATE'S ATTORNEY OF CHICAGO AND A LEADER IN THE FIGHT AGAINST WHITE SLAVERY.

The white slave traffic, in one form or another, is older than Babylon, but it has remained for the present age to see it systematized. Clifford G. Roe, Chicago's youngest assistant state's attorney, is the first champion to enter the field in combat this system of slavery and already he has accomplished much in the way of organizing the forces of society against the evil.

Mr. Roe has ideas of his own, which he gained from his experience in the court room about the white slave traffic, and he has made up his mind that he is going to let the world know about them. So far the world has been fairly willing to listen to him, and has even done him the honor to discuss his ideas, just a little bothered perhaps that anyone should stir it up so vigorously.

Mr. Roe is 34 years old and looks 10 years younger. He is energetic, earnest and has all the enthusiasm of the young man to whom life is bristling with opportunities. In figure he is short and slight, and walks with peculiar springiness, which is in itself typical of the human energy of the man. His face is noble and expressive of a quick intelligence, while he is the possessor of an engaging smile, which breaks out at unexpected moments.

Mr. Roe was born on an Indiana farm but his parents brought him to Chicago when he was three years old and he was educated in the public schools of that city and afterwards took two degrees at the University of Michigan.

Through his warfare against the white slave traffic he is known throughout the nation. He has invaded churches, public halls and all places where men and women meet together, and he has called upon his fellows to unite and rise against the monsters who are luring women to destruction for gold. He is an orator and a fluent speaker and the people of the country will hear something new from him about white slavery when he speaks at the national party congress at Burlington, Iowa, October 15.

H. S. Steadwell of LaCrosse, Wis., president of the national party congress, is an ardent admirer of Mr. Roe and his work is especially pleased that Mr. Roe is to be present and discuss this live topic before the congress.

False Pretense. Mrs. Hyup—"I was so disappointed in Dr. Pullen!" Mrs. Hyer—"In what respect?" "Mrs. Hyup—"I understood he was a great bridge expert, but he was only a dentist!" Puck.

A Light Hint. He—"Wouldn't you rather live in these days of electricity than in your father's time, for instance? Think of what primitive times they must have been when people used candles." She (wearily)—"Oh, I don't know that candles were such primitive things. They knew enough to go out some times."

Progress in China. Besides the four or five Chinese government schools now teaching railway engineering, another is recommended to be established at Tientsin. Also a rail-making plant is to be erected at Tai-Yuan-Fu, and every department and district touching the railway is directed to plant 30,000 elm trees in order to provide ties in the future.

Probably on the Team. "Such ignorance is inexcusable!" exclaimed Aunt Hyppia. "My nephew Percival has been going to college nearly three years, and when I asked him this morning whether he knew anything about Homer he said, 'Sure! A homer is a hit that's good for four bases.'"

Something New For You

People very often say to me that their mother or father or some friend are not able to wear their artificial teeth.

I wouldn't be surprised if it was true that there are more lower sets of teeth in bureau drawers or worn in the owner's pockets than there are in their mouths today.

For the reason that it is very difficult to fit a lower set of artificial teeth after one's own teeth are all extracted.

To make a lower set of teeth satisfactorily has been very difficult, but I now have a new plate for the lower jaw which is wonderful in the comfort which it gives to the wearer, and the satisfaction in every way.

If you have lower teeth, or your upper either, are unsatisfactory to you, just drop in, and tell me about your troubles, and I think that I can make you teeth that you can wear. At least, I have done so in scores of cases where people were entirely discouraged with ever being able to get teeth that they could wear.

I believe I can fit you, and my prices are very reasonable indeed.

I also extract teeth painlessly.

SCHOOL OPENS AT STATE INSTITUTE

BLIND SCHOLARS RESUME STUDIES HERE TODAY.

THE ATTENDANCE IS LARGER

By Four Than Last Year and Others May Return Later—New Matron Has Taken Charge.

School was opened today at the State Institute for the Blind with an enrollment of about sixty-three pupils and it is expected that the attendance will be materially increased within the next few days. The roster today is a slight gain over that of the first day last year, when fifty-nine were registered. Most of the old pupils, with the exception of the graduates, have returned and there are a number of newcomers who more than make up for the loss by graduation. Today was devoted principally to the enrollment of pupils, assignment of places, the classification of the classes, and the organization of the classes. The teaching force is practically unchanged, but Mrs. Mary H. Sanborn takes the place of Mrs. Clark who was matron last year. The instructors in the various subjects are: E. G. Duck, principal; M. A. Turner, physical culture; Jonathan H. Jones, piano; Laura Englewood, piano; Emma K. Means, vocal music; Herbert Adams, orchestra teacher; John Stevens, in piano tuning; H. G. Arnold, work teacher; Elizabeth McGrath, kindergarten; Rosa R. Chalmers, manual training; Emma Nugent, literature; Allen K. McDougall, literature; and Helen L. Tuttle, literature.

M'LAY HORSES AND PHIL KOCH'S BIRDS TAKE THE PREMIUMS

Over 175 Janesville People Are Attending State Fair Today—Railroad Wash-outs Cause Trouble.

It is reported at the railroad shops that should the remaining days of the week show the usual increase in the number of Milwaukee visitors, this year's attendance from Janesville at the state fair will exceed that of any at the two passenger stations last night and this morning, which shows being one way to expect to stay longer than one day. St. Paul officials state that if the weather is favorable, they expect to sell more than one hundred tickets to the Cream City tomorrow.

To accommodate the crowds from the direction of Monroe, Plattville and Mineral Point, extra coaches have been placed on the trains and even these are crowded. On the Mineral Point Division of the St. Paul, traffic has been greatly impeded by the wash-outs which occurred on that division last Monday.

Between Calomine and Mineral Point, and Calomine and Plattville, the heavy rains have almost completely blocked the trains and it has been found necessary to transfer passengers around the portions of the track that have been damaged as it has been impossible to repair the right of way temporarily so that the trains may pass.

McLay Horses Winners. McLay Brothers of Janesville have annexed another big string of prizes with their exhibition of Clydesdales at the state fair. Their stallion, "Prince Growin'", has won the gold medal offered by the Clydesdale association of Great Britain and Ireland. In the open class the animals have taken first premiums for stallions 3 years old and under 4, two years and under three, one year and under, four year old and under 4, two years and under mares, fillies and several seconds and thirds. J. C. Robinson & Son of Evansville captured third in the year old stallion class. In the competition for Clydesdales bred and owned in Wisconsin, the McLay exhibit took five of the nine first premiums besides carrying off the sweetest prizes for a stallion of any age, in the six classes of the American Clydesdale association's special competition, the McLay string carried off five first premiums and the greater number of the seconds and thirds.

Koch Chickens Score.

Philip Koch, one of Janesville's leading poultry fanciers and breeders, made a splendid showing in the poultry exhibits. His Rhode Island Reds are acknowledged to be the best colored of any on the show room benches. In the Single Comb Rhode Island Red class he took first prize for best cock, second for best hen, first and third for best cockerel, and first for best pullet. In the Rose Comb class, he took first and third prize for best cock, second for best hen, first for best cockerel, and second for best pullet. This showing for a single competitor in such a large show is hard to equal.

To Eliminate Undesirables. State Fair Marshal Grant H. Fisher, board member at large, and the men in his department, are conducting a relentless war on the cheap carnival and sideshow and the attendant following of indecent showmen and petty grafters. In the metropolitan papers this morning he is credited with being at the head of a movement for the elevation of the moral atmosphere of the amusement features.

"You said just now that you would not say anything more of these things you have told me to-night. Do you mean that?"

"Yes, I mean it."
"Then please promise that you won't. That's all I ask if you are going to spend the next two days here, and if I am to let you see me."

"I promise," Van Torp answered, without hesitation.

She allowed herself the illusion that she had both done the right thing and also taken the position of command; and he, standing beside her, allowed himself to smile at the fulfillment of what she was requiring of him with so much earnestness, for little as he knew of women's ways he was more than sure that the words he had spoken that night would come back to her again and again; and more than that he could not hope at present. But she could not see his face clearly.

"Thank you," she said. "That shall be our compact."

To his surprise, she held out her hand. He took it with wonderful calmness, considering what the touch meant to him, and he returned discreetly what was meant for a friendly pressure. She was so well satisfied now that she did not think it necessary to telegraph to Legott that he might start at once, though even if she had done so immediately he could hardly have reached Janyouth till the afternoon of the next day but one, when the last performance of "Parafal" would be already going on; and she herself intended to leave on the morning after that.

She walked forward in silence for a few moments, and the lights of the town grew quickly brighter.

"You will come in and have some supper with us, of course," she said presently.

"Why, certainly, since you are so kind," answered Van Torp.

"I feel responsible for your having forgotten to dine," she laughed. "I must make it up to you. By this time Mrs. Rushmore is probably wondering where I am."

"Well," said the American, "if she thinks I'm perfect, she knows that you're safe with me, I suppose, even if you do come home a little late."

"I shall say that we walked home very slowly, in order to breathe the air."

"Yes, we've walked home very slowly."

"I mean," said Margaret quickly, "that I shall not say we have been out towards the fields, as far as the gate."

"I don't see any harm if we have," observed Mr. Van Torp indifferently. "Harm? No! Don't you understand? Mrs. Rushmore is quite capable of thinking that I have already—how shall I say?—she stopped."

"Taken note of her good advice," he said, completing the sentence for her.

"Exactly! Whereas nothing could be further from my intention, as you know, I'm very fond of Mrs. Rushmore." Margaret continued quickly, in order to get away from the dangerous subject she had felt obliged to approach; "she has been a mother to me, and heaven knows I needed one, and she has the best and kindest heart in the world. But she is so anxious for my happiness that, whenever she thinks it is at stake, she rushes at conclusions without the slightest reason, and then it's very hard to get them out of her dear old head!"

"I see. If that's why she thinks me perfect, I'll try not to disappoint her."

They reached the hotel, went upstairs and separated on the landing to get ready for supper.

On his side of the landing, Mr. Van Torp found Stemp waiting to dress him, and the valet handed him a telegram. It was from Capt. Brown, and had been telegraphed from London.

"Anchored off Saint Mark's square to-day, 3:30 p. m. Quick passage. No stop. Coasting to-morrow. Ready for sea next morning."

"Stemp," he asked, as he threw off his coat and kicked off his dusty shoes.

"Stemp," he asked, as he threw off his coat and kicked off his dusty shoes.

"Yes, sir," answered the admirable valet, but he offered no more information on the subject.

During the silence that followed, neither wanted a second. It is no joke to wash and get into evening dress in six minutes, even with the help of a body-servant trained to do his work at high speed.

"I mean," said Van Torp, when he was already fastening his collar, "are you sea-sick nowadays?"

"No, sir," replied Stemp, in precisely the same tone as before.

"I don't mean on a 20,000-ton liner. Black cravat. Yes, I mean on a yacht. Fix it behind. Right. Would you be so kind to get me a steam yacht?"

"No, sir."

"Sure?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then I'll take you. Tuxedo."

"Thank you, sir."

Stemp held up the dinner-jacket; Mr. Van Torp's solid arms slipped into the sleeves, he shook his sturdy shoulders, and pulled the jacket down in front while the valet "settled" the back. Then he faced round suddenly, like a soldier at drill.

"All right?" he inquired.

Stemp looked him over carefully from head to foot in the glare of the electric light.

"Yes, sir."

Van Torp left the room at once. He found Mrs. Rushmore slowly moving about the supper-table, more imposing than ever in a perfectly new black tulle gown and an extremely smart widow's cap. Mr. Van Torp thought she was a very fine old lady indeed. Margaret had not entered yet; a waiter with smooth yellow hair stood by a portable sideboard on which there were covered dishes. There were popples and corn-dolers in a plain white jar on the table. Mrs. Rushmore smiled at the flunkey; it would hardly be an exaggeration to say that she beamed upon him. They had not met alone since his first visit on the previous afternoon.

"Miss Donne is a little late," she said, as if the fact were very pleasing. "You brought her back, of course."

"Why, certainly," said Mr. Van Torp with an amiable smile.

"You can hardly have come straight from the theater," continued the lady, "for I heard the other people in the hotel coming in full 20 minutes before you did."

"We walked home very slowly."

"I mean," said Margaret quickly, "that I shall not say we have been out towards the fields, as far as the gate."

"I don't see any harm if we have," observed Mr. Van Torp indifferently.

her. Nothing could have given Mrs. Rushmore such profound satisfaction as this, and it revealed itself in her bright smile and her anxiety that both Margaret and Van Torp should, if possible, over-eat themselves with the excellent things she had heaped at pains to provide for them and for herself. For she was something of an epicure and her dinners in Versailles were of good fame, even in Paris.

Great appetites are generally silent, like the sincerest affections. Margaret was very hungry, and Mr. Van Torp was both hungry and very much in love. Mrs. Rushmore was neither, and she talked pleasantly while tasting each delicacy with critical satisfaction.

"By the by," she said at last, when she saw that the millionaire was backing his foretopsal to come to anchor, as Capt. Brown might have expressed it, "I hope you have not had any trouble about your rooms, Mr. Van Torp."

"None at all, that I know of," answered the latter. "My man told me nothing."

"The Russian prince arrived this evening while you were at the theater, and threatened the director with all sorts of legal consequences because the rooms he had ordered were occupied. He turns out to be only a count after all."

"You don't say so," observed Mr. Van Torp, in an encouraging tone.

"What became of him?" Margaret asked, without much interest.

"Did Potts not tell you, my dear? Why, Justinie assisted at the whole interview and came and told me at once."

Justinie was Mrs. Rushmore's Parisian maid, who always knew everything.

Disadvantage.

"Don't you realize that you are financially handicapped by bad roads?"

"Of course we realize it," answered Farmer Cornsoll. "No automobile does travel fast enough to give us an excuse for collecting a fine."

PRESIDENT TAFT IS ON THE ROAD

LEAVES BOSTON, WHERE HE MADE SPEECH AT BIG BANQUET.

SCORES MONETARY SYSTEM

Calls it a Patched-Up Affair Which Satisfies Nobody—Praises Senator Aldrich and Indorses the Central Bank Plan.

Boston, Sept. 15.—Thousands of persons were at the railway station this morning when President Taft left Boston on a special train for Chicago.

Last night the president spoke at a banquet given to celebrate the merging of Boston's three leading commercial bodies, the Merchant's association, the Associated Board of Trade and the Chamber of Commerce into one organization, the largest of its character in the country, its membership numbering 3,000. More than 2,000 persons heard the speech, which was the first the president has delivered since congress adjourned.

Mr. Taft began by congratulating Boston on a union in one organization of all her business men. "It insures a concentration of influence that must make for good," he commented.

Talks of Coming Trip.

Mr. Taft said he was grateful for the hospitable reception which he had received on the north shore of Massachusetts during his vacation and then had this to say of his western trip:

"I am on the eve of beginning a journey of 13,000 miles in length, which will enable me to see tons and hundreds of thousands of my fellow citizens, and enable them, I hope, to see me. Occasionally I hear a query, why I should start off on such a trip, and 'what particular good does it do to anybody?' Well, it certainly is not going to be a pleasure trip, although I shall enjoy it."

"Your chairman has made reference to a number of subjects to which the attention of congress may well be directed. In the first place, there is the monetary situation. While it is probable that the Vreeland bill, passed by the last congress, would aid us in case of another financial crash, it is certain that our banking and monetary system is a patched-up affair which satisfies nobody, and least of all those who are clear-headed and have a knowledge of what a financial system should be."

Monetary Commission's Plans.

"The matter has been referred by congress to a monetary commission, which has been studying with much interest and enthusiasm the financial and banking systems of the great governments of Europe, and has embodied and will soon publish in interesting and attractive form the best accounts of the financial systems of the world."

"It is quite apparent from the statements of Mr. Vreeland, who is now the head of the committee on banking and currency in the house of representatives, and from the conversations of Mr. Aldrich, who is the chairman of the monetary commission and of the finance committee of the senate, that the mind of the monetary commission is toward some sort of arrangement for a central bank of the United States which shall control the reserve and exercise a power to meet and control the casual stringency which from

GOOD PLACE FOR J. P. MORGAN, JR.

BANKER'S SON SUCCEEDS HARRIMAN AS NATIONAL CITY BANK DIRECTOR.

IS AN OIL TRUST CONCERN

Wall Street Sees Evidence of Harmonious Relations Between Money Powers—Will of Railroad King to Be Filed To-Morrow.

New York, Sept. 15.—J. P. Morgan, Jr., who was elected to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Harriman's death.

By Wall street the election is regarded as one of the most significant of the week's financial developments, presumably indicating that harmonious relations exist between the Morgan and the Kuhn, Loeb-Standard Oil groups of financiers. Added weight was given the event because it followed so closely upon the recent reports that the Morgan interests were about to take an active interest in the government of the Harriman roads and that the younger Morgan was slated as the ultimate successor of Mr. Harriman in the command of the Union and Southern Pacific systems.

Largest of Nation's Banks. The National City bank, largest of the nation's financial institutions, is controlled by the Kuhn, Loeb-Standard Oil interests, which has assumed a commanding position—for the time being, at least—in the executive committee of the Union Pacific.

The directorate of the Southern Pacific elected Judge Lovett chairman of the executive committee, while Jacob H. Schiff and William Rockefeller were elected directors and made members of the enlarged executive committee. As was the case at the Union Pacific meeting, no action was taken in the matter of electing a successor to Mr. Harriman as president.

Will to Be Filed. Mr. Harriman's will is to be filed this week, according to Judge Lovett, who was believed to have been closer to Mr. Harriman than any other man. He would not discuss the contents of the will, but said it had been drawn by Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and that it was in his possession.

This will, which is perhaps exciting more interest than any similar document in many years, will probably be filed for probate at Goshen, the county seat of Orange county, which includes the large Harriman estate at Arden. For legal purposes a copy may be entered in the courts in this city, and it is understood that the first announcement of the will's details will be made in this city. It was understood that the will would probably be filed on Thursday.

Plans Will Be Carried Out. Among Mr. Harriman's most intimate friends the belief prevailed that the enormous Harriman railroad holdings are not to be divided for a long period, and that the will creates a trust for their administration, the income going to the heirs. It is also said that while the railroad and commercial interests will be held intact, thought a trusteeship, the will gives to Mrs. Harriman the magnificent estate at Arden and also the town house in Fifth avenue.

If these surmises are correct, and they are generally credited in Wall street, many localities in various parts of the country will rejoice. It will mean that the plans for railroad development which Mr. Harriman had under way will be fully executed by the trustees of his estate. In acquiring a considerable interest in the Erie railroad it was commonly accepted that Mr. Harriman contemplated a radical improvement in the system, particularly in the suburban service. On the strength of this belief property values along the suburban lines adjacent to New York and other large cities were largely increased. The same is said to be true of other railroads and transportation systems in which the financier was interested, and on which he had had no time to execute any plans he may have formed for their improvement.

Girl Badly Wounded by Shot Fired at Mob by Detective.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 15.—Miss Rose Stewart, aged 24 years, a waitress at the Chalfont hotel, was the innocent victim of the warfare between the local police and the squad of detectives brought here from Newark by Prosecutor Goldenberg to aid him in wiping out dens of various types.

The alleged insulting of a woman by one of the detectives caused the mob of about 500 persons to gather about the Algonquin hotel. Windows were broken, cries of terror were raised and when the reserve squad of police came up in the patrol the detectives left the hotel and faced the mob. They opened fire with the result that one of the bullets struck Miss Stewart in the abdomen.

LITERARY CLUB FOR MEN WAS ORGANIZED

Congregational Men Decided to Have Club And Hold Meetings During the Winter.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Clinton, Sept. 14.—One of the most enjoyable events of the season was a meeting for men Monday evening in the chapel of the Congregational church. The formation of a club to meet during the winter was discussed and finally agreed upon. The subject of a banquet such as the men had last October was also talked over and unanimously sanctioned. A male quartet composed of Messrs. S. S. Jones, F. W. Horton, James C. Howarth and Roy Best furnished excellent music during the evening. After a program of short talks by Rev. Clyde McGee, S. S. Jones and E. H. Tubbs, had been given, tempting refreshments were served to the men by Mr. and Mrs. McGee. After more delightful music by the quartet a reading vote of thanks was given the pastor and his wife for their charming hospitality. The meeting adjourned until the call of Mr. McGee. All men of the church and and society are desired to be present at the subsequent gathering.

A fine, bounding, ten and one-half pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stoney, on Thursday.

Hon. R. S. Jones is in Milwaukee where he serves on the committee to meet President Taft.

Miss Margaret Howarth is visiting in Palmyra and Whitewater this week.

O. L. Woodward was on the sick list last Saturday but has recovered sufficiently to go to Chicago this morning to attend the national convention of stockholders of the Rexall Drug Co.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Farman on Saturday.

Frederick H. Helmer, Raymond Stewart, James Alexander Hamilton and Nathan Buckley attended the Woodstock fair last week.

P. A. Carver and family, who have for so long a time lived at or near the Delta, known as Carver's Rock, have rented a 120 acre farm just west of Dolanville and will move there at once.

Charles McCommons expects to go to Milwaukee to attend commercial school.

There will be a meeting Thursday evening of the Lecture Course association in the V. M. C. A. rooms to elect a new secretary to succeed the late H. W. Cheever, and to transact such other business as may come before the meeting.

The Schubert Concert company will give one of their justly celebrated high grade concerts in the Congregational church, Monday evening, Oct. 4, for the benefit of the United Workers' society.

G. H. White and wife of Chester, Vermont, after a very extended tour of the west, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kemmerer on their homeward journey.

Homer Kizer and Frank Collings were in Beloit, Saturday, transacting business.

W. J. McNulty returned home Saturday evening.

A five-pound baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Latta, Friday morning.

The Misses Dorothy Tuttle and Edna Johnson, former Clinton young ladies, now of Beloit, are visiting their numerous young friends here for a few days.

Mr. C. R. Hall and son of Chicago are visiting her sister, Mrs. E. S. Duxstad, for a couple of weeks.

Boyd Smith of Fresno, California, was here Sunday visiting his aunts, the Misses Smith, and Mrs. S. M. Guest.

Dr. J. W. Jones and wife drove to Milton, Saturday, to spend Sunday with their daughters.

Mrs. John Milner and daughter, Mrs. Minnie Weaver, attended the meeting of the Rock County Baptists' association, at Beloit, and also visited relatives and friends before returning.

F. Collyer went to Madison, Tuesday, to visit until Friday with his son, H. H. Collyer.

Orrin C. Smith arrived from Mitchell, Neb., Sunday night. The train being late into Chicago he missed the train to Clinton by five minutes, making it impossible for him to arrive here in time for his father's funeral, which was held Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. J. Q. Simons of Harvard was here today.

ago, the guest of Mrs. E. K. Smart and others.

The reception given at the M. E. church on Monday evening for Rev. Foster, the faculty of the city schools, and for the teachers and pupils of the training school, was a most pleasant affair. There was a program of vocal and instrumental music and short addresses by several persons. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and a most pleasant evening passed quickly.

Joseph Miller spent Monday in Edgerton.

C. E. Donahue returned last evening from a visit of some two weeks duration in different points in the west. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Powell of Pierre, South Dakota, accompanied him home and will spend several days visiting here.

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

An Important Improvement In

Walk-Over Shoes

The shank of a shoe is the point receiving the greatest amount of strain when the shoe is being worn.

It is important then, for the shank of the shoe to be properly supported.

The Keystone Arch Shank is a new device used in WALK-OVER shoes which is practically unbreakable and cannot bend.

Properly inserted in a shoe, it is an unerring support to both the shank of the shoe and to the arch of the foot.

It prevents the shoe from breaking down and also prevents the wearer's foot from breaking down.

In case of an already broken arch, the Keystone Arch Shank in a shoe will prove a great support to the foot.

The Keystone Arch Shank—because it is an improvement—will be used the coming season in WALK-OVER shoes, without extra charge.

No Breaking In. No Breaking Out. And No Breaking Down
